I. Introduction:

St. Thomas Aquinas Regional Catholic High School strives to continue to represent the Dominican traditions it was founded upon: prayer, community, study, and SERVICE, and so our school has established a program to introduce a culture of service and community in a special way for our students based on the Works of Mercy and the principles of Catholic Social Teaching. According to the Catechism of the Catholic Church, “The works of mercy are charitable actions by which we come to the aid of our neighbor in his spiritual and bodily necessities.” (CCC 2447) The Spiritual Works of Mercy include things like instructing, advising, consoling, comforting, forgiving, and bearing wrongs patiently. On the other hand, the Corporal Works of Mercy are more hands-on: feeding the hungry, sheltering the homeless, clothing the naked, visiting the sick and imprisoned, and burying the dead. The Principles of Catholic Social Teaching are a summation of the writings of the Church Magisterium in the modern age that tell us how we, as Christians, should live morally in our society-- with care for the dignity of the human person at all stages of life and of any background or circumstance. These teachings tell us to put the poor and vulnerable first, to care for God’s creation and be good stewards, to care for the dignity of all workers, to promote family values, and to recognize our obligation and responsibility to care for our community not from a distance but as brothers and sisters in Christ. These are all ways we are called to be a reflection of who God is and serve others as Christians in today’s world.
